The Trinity Camp and Conference Center is a beautiful facility nestled into the maritime forest between the sound and the sea on a North Carolina barrier island at Pine Knoll Shores. Its contemporary building “pods” offer private double and triple occupancy rooms with private baths and a central living room area in each cluster. A dining room serves great home-cooked meals (including vegetarian selections). Dancing is in a light, airy recreation building for bringing in the New Year!

Guests can also opt to make it a long weekend with an extra night or two to better enjoy bird watching, walks on the beach or just relaxing with fellow dancers. We are working with the Trinity Center to provide meals for those who want to come a day early and stay for the weekend.

Yes, I want to Boogie in the New Year on Dec 31, 2016!

The Elf Tones w/David Digiuseppe

“The Elf Tones” is a popular, highly energetic North Carolina based band comprised of Mara Shea on fiddle and Roger Gold on guitar and foot percussion. Blending Irish, Scottish, French Canadian, old time, and original tunes, they create a wonderful connection between the music and the dance, which makes dancers believe they could just keep on dancing all night.

Joining them will be David DiGiuseppe, a nationally recognized accordionist known for his fiery and emotive playing. David plays for contra dances throughout the US with his bands FootLoose, Contrazz, and The Ivory Boys.

The Caller . . .

Diane Silver

One of Asheville’s most sought-after dance callers, Diane Silver has been a die-hard contra dancer, swing dancer, and kitchen flat-footer for over thirty years. With a penchant for hot modern contra and a few FUN squares, she loves sharing high-energy dancing that allows everyone to “play” with the band.

Registration Deadline: Dec 15. No refunds after Dec 20 unless we fill the space. Before Dec 20, full refund less $40. This dance is for dancers who have had some experience. A small excess of either gender is acceptable. Dancing children are welcome. Sorry, no pets. Bring a flashlight. No need to bring bedding or towels. To extend your visit ($45 per room per night): contact Chris Mohr Grenier at the Trinity Center (252) 247-5600.
